

ENGLISH LANGUAGE ASSISTANTS CHINA

Spend a year at the heart of the 21st century

Ancient kingdom meets modern powerhouse:
discover what China has to offer through a paid teaching placement. Develop your skills and still have time to explore.

Work as a language assistant in China and see for yourself why many believe that China is at the centre of the world. Super highways and walls of neon, ancient temples and colourful local markets – tradition and modernity combine to make an unforgettable experience.

Discover dazzling mega-cities such as Guangzhou, Chongqing, and Tianjin, all of which are larger than London. You may not have heard of them (yet!) but they all have a part to play in driving China's ever-expanding economic miracle and are not to be missed.

What you'll get

Working as a language assistant is the perfect opportunity to discover another culture and develop invaluable, transferable skills for the workplace. Plus, you get paid to do it. What's not to like? During your placement in China, you'll get:

- year-round support from the British Council, with over 35 years' experience working in China
- on-going support from our partners overseas
- a two-week induction course when you arrive, including language and culture lessons, to help you settle in and meet other language assistants
- a free online TEFL course with practical tips to help you succeed in the classroom.

Salary and benefits

As a language assistant in China, you can expect to be paid a comfortable salary every month. Your accommodation will be sorted for you, taking away the hassle, flights are paid for and there is no programme fee to pay.

Eligibility

You do not need to speak any Chinese, but you will need to:

- be a native speaker of English
- have graduated from university by the time you start your placement.

To find out more and apply:

www.britishcouncil.org/language-assistants/become/china